

Megan Reinbold graduated from Grove City College with a Bachelor of Music in Education degree focused in vocal studies and choral conducting and is certified to teach Music K-12 in Pennsylvania.

In teaching, she strives for a student-led approach to guide the discovery of new music, and to lead students to understanding and expressing emotions through music. Using traditional tools such as rhythm and solfege, students make connections to other school subjects such as math, science, and world cultures. Megan has worked to independently study a variety of alternative education styles, such as Steiner/Waldorf and Montessori, and incorporates these into her classroom. Above all else, Megan strives to give students tools to further discover their Creator and the wonder of His Creation through form, pattern, creativity, beauty, and the other elements in music.

When not teaching, Megan enjoys spending time around the many waterways of Erie, taking on ever-expanding renovation projects with her husband, and watching her young family grow.

“Having taught in other schools, I can truly say that LCA is a different world in the best way. Our school is a family, and our staff takes to heart God’s command to train up a child in the way of the Lord. The caring, love, and diligence that I see from the LCA teachers and staff is unmatched in any other school, and I am so blessed to have the opportunity to fulfil my life’s calling in such a wonderful place.”
